7 BANKOF AMERICA, N.A.,

8 Plaintiff,

Case No. 2:16-cv-386-JCM-NKJ

AMENDED ORDER

9 v.

10 LOG CABIN PONDEROSA HOMEOWNERS
11 ASSOCIATION, et al.,

12 Defendants.

13 On April 3, 2019, the Ninth Circuit vacated and remanded the court's order entering 14 summary judgment against plaintiff Bank of America, N.A. ("BANA"). Pursuant to the Ninth 15 Circuit's directive, the court hereby adjudicates this matter consistent with Bank of America,
16 N.A. v. Arlington West Twilight Homeowners Association, No. 17-15796, 2019 WL 1461317 (9th 17 Cir. April 3, 2019) ("Arlington").

18 I. Facts

19 This action arises from a dispute over real property located at 10342 Hanky Panky Street, 20 Las Vegas, Nevada 89131 (the "property"). (ECF No. 1).

21 Christopher and Jennifer Glover (the "Glovers") purchased the property on or about July 22 21, 2009. See (ECF No. 57-1). The Glovers financed the purchase with a loan in the amount of 23 $406,978.00 from DHI Mortgage Company, Ltd ("DHI"). Id. GHI secured the loan with a deed
24 of trust, which names GHI as the lender, DHI Title of Nevada as the trustee, and Mortgage
25 Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS") as the beneficiary as nominee for the lender and 26 lender's successors and assigns. Id. On March 6, 2012, BANA acquired all beneficial interest in 27 the deed of trust via an assignment, which BANA recorded with the Clark County recorder's 28 office. (ECF No. 57-3).

1 On August 29, 2013, defendant Log Cabin Ponderosa Homeowners Association ("Log
2 Cabin"), through its agent defendant Nevada Association Services, Inc. ("NAS"), recorded a
3 notice of delinquent assessment lien ("the lien") against the property for the Glovers' failure to 4 pay Log Cabin in the amount of $1,757.62. (ECF No. 57-4). On October 11, 2013, Log Cabin
5 recorded a notice of default and election to sell pursuant to the lien, stating that the amount due 6 was $2,689.28 as of October 8, 2013. (ECF No. 57-5).

7 In an attempt to exercise its right of redemption, BANA requested from Log Cabin the 8 superpriority amount of the lien. (ECF No. 57-7). In response, Log Cabin provided a payoff
9 ledger of the Glovers' total amount due from November 2012 to March 2014. Id. The payoff
10 ledger shows an outstanding balance of $3,054.72 but does not state what portion of the balance
11 constitutes the superpriority portion of the lien. Id. The ledger also does not include charges for 12 maintenance and nuisance abatement. Id. The ledger does state, however, that Log Cabin's 13 monthly assessment against the property was $58.00. Id.

14 BANA used Log Cabin's ledger to calculate the superpriority amount as $522.00, the 15 sum of nine months of common assessments. Id. On March 13, 2014, BANA sent a letter and a
16 check for that amount to Log Cabin. Id. The letter explained that the check was the sum of nine 17 months of common assessments and intended to pay off the superpriority portion of the lien. Id.
18 Log Cabin rejected the payment without explanation. Id.

19 On July 25, 2014, Log Cabin recorded a notice of foreclosure sale against the property.
20 (ECF No. 57-6). On August 22, 2014, Log Cabin sold the property in a nonjudicial foreclosure
21 sale to defendant MRT Assets, LLC ("MRT") in exchange for $62,000.00. (ECF No. 57-8). On 22 August 25, 2014, MRT recorded the foreclosure deed with the Clark County recorder's office.
23 Id. On February 10, 2015, defendant TRP Fund V, LLC ("TRP") acquired all beneficial interest
24 in the property via a quitclaim deed. (ECF No. 57-10).

25 On February 25, 2016, BANA initiated this action, asserting four causes of action: (1)
26 quiet title/declaratory judgment against all defendants; (2) breach of NRS 116.1113 against NAS
27 and Log Cabin; (3) wrongful foreclosure against NAS and Log Cabin; and (4) injunctive relief
28 against TRP. (ECF No. 1). On March 2, 2016, TRP filed an answer, counterclaim and third-

1 party complaint to quiet title. (ECF No. 6).

2 On April 18, 2017, the court entered summary judgment, holding that the foreclosure sale
3 extinguished the deed of trust. (ECF No. 73). That same day, the clerk entered judgment. (ECF
4 No. 74).

5 On May 17, 2017, BANA appealed to the Ninth Circuit. (ECF No. 75). On April 3, 6 2019, the Ninth Circuit vacated and remanded the court's April 18, 2017, order and directed the 7 court to commence proceedings consistent with Arlington. (ECF No. 82). Now, the court
8 adjudicates the merits of this action.

9 II. Legal Standard

10 The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure allow summary judgment when the pleadings, 11 depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if 12 any, show that "there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to a 13 judgment as a matter of law." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a). A principal purpose of summary judgment
14 is "to isolate and dispose of factually unsupported claims." Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S.
15 317, 323–24 (1986).

16 For purposes of summary judgment, disputed factual issues should be construed in favor 17 of the non-moving party. Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed., 497 U.S. 871, 888 (1990). However, to 18 be entitled to a denial of summary judgment, the nonmoving party must "set forth specific facts 19 showing that there is a genuine issue for trial." Id.

20 In determining summary judgment, a court applies a burden-shifting analysis. The 21 moving party must first satisfy its initial burden. "When the party moving for summary 22 judgment would bear the burden of proof at trial, it must come forward with evidence which 23 would entitle it to a directed verdict if the evidence went uncontroverted at trial. In such a case, 24 the moving party has the initial burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of fact on 25 each issue material to its case." C.A.R. Transp. Brokerage Co. v. Darden Rests., Inc., 213 F.3d
26 474, 480 (9th Cir. 2000) (citations omitted).

27 By contrast, when the nonmoving party bears the burden of proving the claim or defense, 28 the moving party can meet its burden in two ways: (1) by presenting evidence to negate an

1 essential element of the non-moving party's case; or (2) by demonstrating that the nonmoving
2 party failed to make a showing sufficient to establish an element essential to that party's case on 3 which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial. See Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 323–24. If 4 the moving party fails to meet its initial burden, summary judgment must be denied and the court
5 need not consider the nonmoving party's evidence. See Adickes v. S.H. Kress & Co., 398 U.S.
6 144, 159–60 (1970).

7 If the moving party satisfies its initial burden, the burden then shifts to the opposing party
8 to establish that a genuine issue of material fact exists. See Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith
9 Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986). To establish the existence of a factual dispute, the 10 opposing party need not establish a material issue of fact conclusively in its favor. It is sufficient 11 that “the claimed factual dispute be shown to require a jury or judge to resolve the parties’
12 differing versions of the truth at trial.” T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec. Contractors Ass’n, 13 809 F.2d 626, 631 (9th Cir. 1987).

14 In other words, the nonmoving party cannot avoid summary judgment by relying solely 15 on conclusory allegations that are unsupported by factual data. See Taylor v. List, 880 F.2d 16 1040, 1045 (9th Cir. 1989). Instead, the opposition must go beyond the assertions and 17 allegations of the pleadings and set forth specific facts by producing competent evidence that 18 shows a genuine issue for trial. See Celotex, 477 U.S. at 324.

19 At summary judgment, a court's function is not to weigh the evidence and determine the 20 truth, but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial. See Anderson v. Liberty Lobby,
21 Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986). The evidence of the nonmovant is “to be believed, and all 22 justifiable inferences are to be drawn in his favor.” Id. at 255. But if the evidence of the 23 nonmoving party is merely colorable or is not significantly probative, summary judgment may be 24 granted. See id. at 249–50.

25 III. Discussion

26 Under Nevada law, “[a]n action may be brought by any person against another who 27 claims an estate or interest in real property, adverse to the person bringing the action for the 28 purpose of determining such adverse claim.” Nev. Rev. Stat. § 40.010. “A plea to quiet title

1 does not require any particular elements, but each party must plead and prove his or her own
2 claim to the property in question and a plaintiff's right to relief therefore depends on superiority
3 of title." Chapman v. Deutsche Bank Nat'l Trust Co., 302 P.3d 1103, 1106 (Nev. 2013)
4 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Therefore, a party must show that its claim to 5 the property is superior to all others in order to succeed on a quiet title action. See also Breliant
6 v. Preferred Equities Corp., 918 P.2d 314, 318 (Nev. 1996) ("In a quiet title action, the burden of 7 proof rests with the plaintiff to prove good title in himself.").

8 Section 116.3116(1) of the Nevada Revised Statutes<sup>1</sup> allows an HOA to place a lien on its 9 homeowners' residences for unpaid assessments and fines. Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.3116(1).
10 Moreover, NRS 116.3116(2) gives priority to that HOA lien over all other encumbrances with 11 limited exceptions—such as "[a] first security interest on the unit recorded before the date on 12 which the assessment sought to be enforced became delinquent." Nev. Rev. Stat. § 13 116.3116(2)(b).

14 The statute then carves out a partial exception to the subparagraph (2)(b) exception for 15 first security interests. See Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.3116(2). In SFR Investments Pool 1 v. U.S.
16 Bank, the Nevada Supreme Court provided the following explanation:

17
18 As to first deeds of trust, NRS 116.3116(2) thus splits an HOA lien into two 19 pieces, a superpriority piece and a subpriority piece. The superpriority piece, 20 consisting of the last nine months of unpaid HOA dues and maintenance and 21 nuisance-abatement charges, is "prior to" a first deed of trust. The subpriority
22 piece, consisting of all other HOA fees or assessments, is subordinate to a first 23 deed of trust.

24 334 P.3d 408, 411 (Nev. 2014) ("SFR Investments").

25 NRS 116.3116 et seq. ("Chapter 116") permits an HOA to enforce its superpriority lien

27 <sup>1</sup> The 2015 Legislature revised Chapter 116 substantially. 2015 Nev. Stat., ch. 266.
28 Except where otherwise indicated, the references in this order to statutes codified in NRS
Chapter 116 are to the version of the statutes in effect in 2011–13, when the events giving rise to this litigation occurred.

1 with a nonjudicial foreclosure sale. Id. at 415. Thus, “NRS 116.3116(2) provides an HOA a true
2 superpriority lien, proper foreclosure of which will extinguish a first deed of trust.” Id. at 419;
3 see also Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.31162(1) (providing that “the association may foreclose its lien by 4 sale” upon compliance with the statutory notice and timing rules).

5 NRS 116.31166(1) provides that when an HOA forecloses on a property pursuant to NRS
6 116.31164, the following recitals in the deed are conclusive proof of the matters recited:

8 (a) Default, the mailing of the notice of delinquent assessment, and the recording 9 of the notice of default and election to sell;

10 (b) The elapsing of the 90 days; and

11 (c) The giving of notice of sale[.]

12 Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.31166(1)(a)–(c).<sup>2</sup> “The ‘conclusive’ recitals concern . . . all statutory 13 prerequisites to a valid HOA lien foreclosure sale.” See Shadow Wood Homeowners Assoc. v.
14 N.Y. Cmty. Bancorp., Inc., 366 P.3d 1105 (Nev. 2016). Nevertheless, courts retain the equitable 15 authority to consider quiet title actions even when an HOA’s foreclosure deed contains 16 statutorily conclusive recitals. See id. at 1112.

17 Here, the parties have provided the recorded notice of delinquent assessment, the 18 recorded notice of default and election to sell, the recorded notice of foreclosure sale, and the 20 _____

21 <sup>2</sup> The statute further provides as follows:

22 2. Such a deed containing those recitals is conclusive against the unit’s 23 former owner, his or her heirs and assigns, and all other persons. The receipt for 24 the purchase money contained in such a deed is sufficient to discharge the 25 purchaser from obligation to see to the proper application of the purchase money.

26 3. The sale of a unit pursuant to NRS 116.31162, 116.31163 and 27 116.31164 vests in the purchaser the title of the unit’s owner without equity or 28 right of redemption.

Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.31166(2)–(3).

1 recorded foreclosure deed. See (ECF Nos. 57-4, 57-5, 57-6, 57-8). Further, the recorded
2 foreclosure deed contains the necessary recitals to establish compliance with NRS 116.31162
3 through NRS 116.31164. (ECF No. 57-8); see Shadow Wood, 466 P.3d at 1112. Therefore,
4 pursuant to NRS 116.31166 and the recorded foreclosure deed, the foreclosure sale was valid to 5 the extent that it complied with NRS 116.31162 through NRS 116.31164.

6 While NRS 116.3116 accords certain deed recitals conclusive effect, it does not 7 conclusively entitle the buyer at the HOA foreclosure sale to success on a quiet title claim. See
8 Shadow Wood, 366 P.3d at 1112 (rejecting that NRS 116.31166 defeats, as a matter of law, 9 actions to quiet title). Thus, the question remains whether plaintiff has demonstrated sufficient 10 grounds to justify setting aside the foreclosure sale. See id.

11 “When sitting in equity . . . courts must consider the entirety of the circumstances that 12 bear upon the equities. This includes considering the status and actions of all parties involved, 13 including whether an innocent party may be harmed by granting the desired relief.” Id.

14 BANA argues that the foreclosure sale did not extinguish the deed of trust because 15 BANA tendered the superpriority portion of the lien. (ECF No. 46). In light of the Nevada
16 Supreme Court’s holding in Bank of America, N.A. v. SFR Invs. Pool 1, LLC, 427 P.3d 113 (Nev.
17 2018) (“SFR III”), the court agrees.

18 Under NRS 116.31166(1), the holder of a first deed of trust may pay off the superpriority
19 portion of an HOA lien to prevent the foreclosure sale from extinguishing the deed of trust. See 20 Nev. Rev. Stat. § 116.31166(1); see also SFR Investments, 334 P.3d at 414 (“But as a junior 21 lienholder, BOA could have paid off the SHHOA lien to avert loss of its security . . .”). The 22 superpriority portion of the lien consists of “the last nine months of unpaid HOA dues and 23 maintenance and nuisance-abatement charges,” while the subpriority piece consists of “all other 24 HOA fees or assessments.” SFR Investments, 334 P.3d at 411; Horizons at Seven Hills
25 Homeowners Association v. Ikon Holdings, LLC, 373 P.3d 66 (Nev. 2016) (“NRS 116.3116(2) . .
26 . is limited to an amount equal to the common expenses assessments due during the nine months 27 before foreclosure”) (emphasis added).

28 In SFR III, the Nevada Supreme Court held that a foreclosure sale did not extinguish a

1 first deed of trust when Bank of America, the holder of the deed of trust, used the HOA's
2 representations to calculate and tender the sum of nine months of delinquent assessments. SFR
3 III, 427 P.3d at 121. Although the superpriority portion of an HOA lien typically includes 4 maintenance and nuisance abatement charges, the court held that "Bank of America tendered the 5 correct amount to satisfy the superpriority portion of the lien . . . [because] the HOA did not 6 indicate that the property had any charges for maintenance or nuisance abatement." Id. at 118.

7 The Nevada Supreme Court's holding in SFR III controls the court's analysis in this case.
8 Like SFR III, where Bank of America relied on the HOA's representations to calculate nine 9 months of assessments, BANA relied on Log Cabin's ledger to calculate nine months of 10 assessments. See id. at 118; (ECF No. 57-7). Further, Log Cabin, like the HOA in SFR III, did
11 not indicate that the property had any charges for maintenance or nuisance abatement. See SFR
12 III, 427 P.3d at 118; (ECF No. 57-7). Thus, when BANA sent to Log Cabin a check for nine 13 months of common assessments, it properly tendered the superpriority portion of the lien.

14 Therefore, the nonjudicial foreclosure sale did not extinguish the deed of trust. See SFR
15 III, 427 P.3d at 121 ("It follows that after a valid tender of the superpriority portion of an HOA
16 lien, a foreclosure sale . . . cannot extinguish the first deed of trust"); see also Bank of America,
17 N.A. v. Arlington West Twilight Homeowners Association, No. 17-15796, 2019 WL 1461317 at 18 *2-3 (9th Cir. April 3, 2019).

19 IV. Conclusion

20 In light of the foregoing, the court will grant summary judgment on BANA's quiet title 21 claim and grant BANA summary judgment on TRP's quiet title counterclaim. The court will 22 also dismiss all non-quiet title claims as it has adjudicated all pertinent issues in this case.

23 Accordingly,

24 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that TRP's motion for 25 summary judgment (ECF No. 54) be, and the same hereby is, DENIED.

26 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that BANA's motion for summary judgment (ECF No. 57)
27 be, and the same hereby is, GRANTED, consistent with the foregoing.

28 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that BANA's motion to amend (ECF No. 90) be, and the

1 same hereby is, GRANTED.

2 The clerk shall enter an amended judgment accordingly and close the case.
